

National Heritage Week, Moycullen Heritage presents
a talk and book relaunch - Léacht agus athlainseáil leabhair

ENTERING THE GREY ZONE

Thinking about Ireland's Great Famine →

SATURDAY 15 AUGUST 2026 · 7.30PM
Áras Uilinn, Maigh Cuilinn · H91 DHW0
Booking Via Eventbrite

Guest Speaker Aoichainteoir

BREANDÁN MAC SUIBHNE

Historian, University of Galway

Author of The End of Outrage (2017), a detailed account of landgrabbing and informing in a small community in the time of the Famine.

Historians of Ireland's Great Famine have tended to focus on what was done to and for the poor by landlords, charities and the state; here, University of Galway historian Breandán Mac Suibhne will talk about what the poor did to and for each other, good and bad.

Go hiondúil, díríonn staraithe an Ghorta Mhóir ar an méid a rinne tiarnaí talún, carthanais agus an stát do na boicht. Sa léacht seo, labhróidh Breandán Mac Suibhne, staraí de chuid Ollscoil na Gaillimhe, faoin méid a rinne na boicht dá chéile féin, idir mhaith agus olc.

Athlainseáil 'An Gorta Mór i MaighCuilinn'

First published by Moycullen Heritage in 1997 and long out of print, this work tells the story of how the Great Famine struck the Moycullen area of County Galway. Thanks to funding from Galway County Council and the Dept. of Culture Communications and Sport, we're delighted to bring it back into circulation for a new generation.

Free copy for every attendee.

All welcome · Admission free · Refreshments afterwards
Fáilte roimh chách · Saor in Aisce · Solaistí ina dhiaidh

An Roinn Cultúir,
Cumarsáide agus Spóirt
Department of Culture,
Communications and Sport